

Department of Physiology is actively engaged in the implementation of improvements in community health. Students are trained as part of their curriculum to participate in the project works performed each year on communities of some remote area. Health assessment through monitoring of some physiological and nutritional parameters of individuals are done to serve and increase awareness among people lacking knowledge and proper healthcare systems. Further Members of our Department are also involved in the NSS unit of our College thereby serving the society at large.